Execution Ltd Boosts Reinsurance Team with Tony Pointing Appointment

Execution Ltd has boosted the capability of its Lloyd's reinsurance broker with the appointment of Tony Pointing at Execution Insurance Products.

Mr Pointing was Chairman and Managing Director of Anthony Pointing Limited, the broking firm which he founded and subsequently sold to Jardine Thompson Graham. Thereafter, he held senior positions at Aon and Guy Carpenter.

Matt FitzGerald, Head of Reinsurance at Execution, said: "We are delighted to have Tony joining us. It says a lot about what we have achieved in the last two years that such a well regarded and established market professional would want to become part of our team. He is a great addition to the further development of our reinsurance platform.

"We offer a unique distribution capability to our clients and one that offers a truly independent and dedicated service. We provide competitive, professional, bespoke capital and reinsurance solutions for our client base."

Tony Pointing said: "Execution offers an unrivalled and innovative broking platform broking platform to its reinsurance clients and I am looking forward to working with the team to serve clients and to help in the development and expansion of this exciting business."
